Cosmetic Dentistry under Specialist Care At Smile Solutions, we always recommend that patients seek a second opinion before commencing any significant dental procedure, especially in complex cases where a specialist's expertise is crucial to ensure the best possible outcomes and care. Unsure if your clinician is a registered specialist? You can verify your clinician's Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA) registration by checking their profile. If their profile lists them as a "Dental Practitioner – General", it means they are a general dentist. If it indicates "General & Specialist", then they are a registered specialist. Their profile will also provide their details about their speciality and qualifications. To qualify as a registered specialist in Australia, practitioners must first have the same degree as a general dentist. They then study for a further Masters degree or equivalent, or a PhD in a particular field, making them eligible to apply for registration with the Dental Board of Australia as a specialist. Check a clinician's AHPRA registration
